MONTHLY ACTIVITIES REPORT

May 1978

1. 4C System. An updated cost analysis was completed for the 4C System, a proposed automated, centralized data base for current and complete information on compartmented access approvals throughout the Community. The system would provide on-line access to the Community, with suppression capabilities with regard to particularly sensitive data, and would replace a variety of access recording and retrieval systems now in use. The analysis showed that two large mini-computers (for load sharing and backup), hand-tailored programming and new software will be required. Funds for system hardware, software, communications and remote terminals are being included in the FY 1980 program submission.

2. Foreign Disclosure Security. The Committee concluded that variances in Community procedures on foreign disclosure of compartmented and non-compartmented intelligence needed to be explored with the collection committees to identify areas of possible policy development.
